To Whom It May Concern:

The Better Business Bureau is pleased to announce their partnership with Hospitality International Training ("HIT"). Led by Better Business Bureau Board of Director Member Dr. Lonnie G. Wright, HIT trains and looks to place a bank of certified talent to the hospitality industry, such as certified line cooks. To prove the skillset and work ethic of these HIT graduates, The Nevada Partners WEX will provide juvenile graduates up to 4 months' worth of pay, limited to 30 hours of work per week. In other words, employers have an absolutely free "look" at these prospective employees before they decide to commit to an offer of full-time employment. This level of commitment is something that results in a win-win for business owners and the HIT graduates as well, and is something Better Business Bureau is proud to stand behind.

Dr. Wright, thank you for your efforts in serving the Southern Nevada business community.

My Best,
